Bud description

Her buds are encrusted with trichomes giving her a totally white appearance, and the calyxes are large-sized making her buds look stacked. The buds have a very distinct tangerine, orange fruity aroma with a sharp sour, sherbet background, and when handled are highly resinous.

Smoke report

After tasting Orange Sherbet Auto, you will feel her Sativa dominance and potency as she keeps you in orbit for hours on end. Absolutely delicious flavors and an effect that can be described as uplifting, exhilarating, deeply creative, and motivated. This cultivar is perfect for social scenarios, dinner parties, days at the beach, a long hike, getting through a long to-do list or just playing music, gaming, or reading.

Plant Appearance

One of our taller hybrids that can grow between 110-150cm so it's best suited for those with plenty of growing space. Thanks to her Sativa heritage, expect this lady to grow quickly with large sized internodal spacing and a wide bushy appearance. Yields of 500-600gr/m<sup>2</sup> can be expected, so we advise supporting her during the blooming period. An incredible producer of extremely resinous flowers, that performs well in all climates, but especially in warmer ones. She will grow large-sized buds, with prolific amounts of resin on the surrounding leaves, that will have hash makers licking their lips in anticipation.

Grow Tips

We recommend performing plant training such as L.S.T with this cultivar, as this will help open her canopy and increase yields further. Adding bamboo canes for support will help hold the weight of the buds during the flowering stage. Indoor growers with limited space may have issues controlling the final height, so we suggest tying plants down. Thanks to her heavy onset of resin on both buds and leaves, she makes some excellent water hash, dry sift, and extracts meaning you should have your trim bins ready when harvesting this special cultivar.

Flavor

Her flavor can be described as a cocktail of fresh orange juice and sweet and sour tangerine sherbet. A very sharp and distinctive taste that accompanies the cerebral effect wonderfully that will leave a strong fruit smoothie flavor in your mouth.
