Bud description

Mexican Airlines produces moderately sized, bright green, super sticky buds. Growers can expect a plethora of trichomes, making this strain an excellent option for making extractions.

Smoke report

Pure Sativa effects without a body stone or couch-locking laziness. This is a go-to daytime smoke for anyone who needs a little pick-me-up. Consumers report a clear and pleasant head high with an all-over feeling of euphoria without any paranoia. A creative and energetic high ideally suited to artistic activities and pursuits. Get ready to laugh with this one!

Plant Appearance

Mexican Airlines sticks to its Colombian and Mexican Sativa lineage, producing tall plants, reaching up to 120cm, with slender branches and moderate internodal spacing. Growers can expect some rapid stretching right before flowering. Mid flower, strong citrus scents will start to fill your space, so make sure you have a filter if needed.

Grow Tips

Generally easy to grow for all levels of expertise. Sativa dominant varieties prefer lighter doses of nutrients and this one is no different. Especially during the flowering stage, growers will want to go light-handed with the Nitrogen. Give her a chance to show off her natural structure and go easy on the training, as Sativas are more sensitive to stress.

Flavor

Just as the smell of Mexican Airlines indicates, users will enjoy tokes of spicy lemon flavors with a pine aftertaste. Curing is a must in order to enhance the deep citrus terps.
